- Higher tuition and fees, reduced access for students
- Diminishing job security and growing workloads for faculty
- A shrinking budget share for education and a growing budget share for administration

What's driving these trends in universities across the U.S. and at UVM? What can faculty, students, and concerned citizens do?

Join United Academics, the University of Vermont's faculty union, for this important discussion with Gary Rhoades, General Secretary of the American Association of University Professors and author of Managed Professionals: Unionized Faculty and Restructuring Academic Labor (SUNY Press, 1998) and Academic Capitalism and the New Economy with Sheila Slaughter (Johns Hopkins University Press, 2004).

Free and Open to the Public. For more information,
